A DISGUSTED WIDOW.—Capt. W—— has just returned from the Warm Springs. The Captain is a widower.—At the Springs was a widow who rather set her cap for the Captain. The girls told him to look out, and the Captain replied, well, he was ready.

Sitting out in the portico one evening, the cool breeze fanning like a ten cent palm-leaf, and thinking of his daughters far away at school, the widow moved up close by and opened conversation.

"I hear, Captain, you have grown-up daughters."

"Yes, madam, I have."

"How I should like to see their pictures."

"I will show you a picture of my eldest daughter," said the Captain, handing her one.

"Oh, such a sweet face," said the widow: "and such a fine eye! Isn't she called like you, Captain?"

"I don't know, madam, that she is."

"It is a wonder to me, Capt. W——, you do not get married."

"Well, ma'am, I never think of it; for the woman I'd have might not have me, and then, you know, vice-versa."

"Yes, but what kind of a lady would suit you?" and the widow looked her sweetest.

It was right here the Captain's wonderful nerve never forsook him; but, setting his eye steadily at the widow's, he hardened his heart, and replied: "Madam, she must be 95 years old to a second and worth $200,000."

"It is getting so chilly out here I must go for my shawl," said the widow; and she looked frigid zones at the Captain as she brushed him by with a toss of her head.—Raleigh (N. C.) Sentinel.

In a recent essay Prof. Fiske says: "Deanthropomorphization is a progressive stripping off of the old idea of purpose and replacing it by the conception of physical agencies." Exactly. It is to be hoped that Deanthropomorphization will be smaller when stripped.

If young ladies wish to get stout they should eat slowl. Haste does not make waist.

A harder supject to deal with than even an old deck of cards is a professed business man who won't advertise.

THE RECORD.

Keep the record squarely before you until after Tuesday next. Don't forget anything you know about Samuel J. Tilden. Remember his conduct at the commencement of the war; how selfish he was; how eager he was to give advice to young men to go West and not South. Remember his complicity with and in the Tammany ring. Don't forget that he did not turn on Tweed until the ring was smashed by others. Remember that he became a "sleuth-hound" only after blood had been drawn by others. A "sleuth-hound" would not help Tweed as he did in 1870. Keep in mind that Tilden, as Governor, kept the Sheriff in office whose negligence, to use a very mild term, allowed Tweed to escape. Don't forget that it is a fact that Tilden is a defendant in a suit at law for fraud and embezzlement to the extent of nearly a million of dollars. It ought to be kept in mind that he has been charged with perjury, and has not made a successful reply. His two oaths still stand in conflict. Above all, remember that General Hayes is above him in every respect, and is a true methodical reformer.

THE GERMAN VOTE.—The Germans, very naturally, are indignant at the oft-repeated twaddle that the German vote is going solid for Tilden because Sigel and other Germans are the advocates of Tilden. They resent it as belittling the German mind. They declare that among Germans there is as much individuality of thought and action as among any other nationality or race; that Germans think and act as independently as Americans; and that this campaign will prove no exception to their general course. They love freedom; they hate slavery in all its forms. They emigrated to this country in the pursuit of freedom, of independence in thought and action, and declare that the mass of their voters will be found in November, as in all times past, under the banner and shouting the names of the candidates of the only party whose history and creed are guarantees of that liberty and independence in the pursuit of which they sought the shores of America.

The sudden death of Mr. Ferris on the stage in Baltimore, recalls the death in the same city of Helen Western several years ago. After four nights' absence from the theater on account of sickness, she learned that the belief was general that drunkenness was her ailment. Thereupon she insisted upon reappearing, although advised by her physician against it, and her weak, staggering manner and husky voice convinced many that she was drunk. She was hissed, and the play was not completed. On the next day she died.

A wedding was delayed in Wisconsin lately on account of the bridegroom suddenly remembering that he had not fed his horse. The ceremony waited till the animal was cared for. He explained that a good horse couldn't be found easily, but thirteen girls were willing to be married to him.

A brave and good little Ohio boy sat on the fence two hours on a freezing cold morning, watching a broken rail on a railroad track so as to carry the latest information of the impending accident to his father, who was a local editor.

A Rhode Island man in Texas was much overcome by the magnitude of that State, and thus gave expression to the emotion that convulsed him: "This is bullier than sleeping three in a bed, you bet!"

As ladies walked on the beach with their long hair down, "because otherwise it takes so long to dry," it was the infant terrible who said: "Mamma leaves all hers at the hotel."

If you can arouse curiosity by an advertisement it is a great point gained. The fair sex don't hold all the curiosity in the world.

The school-boy counts the time till the return of holidays; the minor longs to be of age; the lover is impatient until he is married.

There is a doorkeeper in an Edinburg theater so very strict that he won't admit an argument unless it has a ticket.

According to the fearful account of an urchin, the multiplication table is illustrated with cuts in his school.

Every rebel jailer or guard who was at Andersonville, Belle Isle, and Libbey Prison supports Samuel J. Tilden.

The philosopher of the Pittsburg Commercial says that the real mission of the Democratic party seems to be to avenge the suppression of the rebellion.

THE YACHT AMERICA.

The recent race for the Queen's cup, in New York harbor, between the Canadian yacth Countess of Dufferin and American yacht Madeline; recalls the time when that cup was won from the Royal Yacht Squadron of England by the yacht America owned by Commodore Stevens of New York.

It was in 1851, and the America had been sent over in answer to a challenge to test the relative merits of the different models of the old and new world. The English felt their defeat very much, though they behaved in their usual manly style, and showered courtesies on the victorious Americans.

But there was a general impression among the lower classes that the America had a propeller that was artfully concealed. A similar opinion was also entertained by many persons of rank.

"I would not wager a guinea against that Yankee craft," said a sporting clergyman; "but I will give a hundred to see her bottom."

The old Marquis of Anglesea invited one of the America's crew, a Mr. Steers, to sail with him in his yacht, the Pearl, one of the best sailors of the Royal Yacht Squadron. The America under only a main sail and jib, passed the Pearl without difficulty.

"Your lordship knows," said the master of the Pearl, "that no vessel with sails alone could do that." When the America went slowly, he said, "Now it is stopped," and when she went fast, "Now it is going."

The remarks were not unheeded by the marquis, and Steers enjoyed the joke too well to contradict them.

When the vessel came to anchor, the marquis' boat was manned, and he went on board the America. After saluting Commodore Stevens, he went to the stern, leaned over so far that the commodore took hold of his legs to prevent him from going over. He was looking for the propeller.

When the America went on the ways at Portsmouth to repair some damage to her keel, hundreds visited the dockyard to see if she had a propeller.

WHO ARE THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES?—There is nothing so significant of the real issues involved in the campaign as the character of the Democratic nominations for State or local officers. The Richmond South predicted the success of Henry H. Matthews as Governor of West Virginia, because he was a gallant officer of the Confederate army. So we have the blatant Wade Hampton in S. Carolina and Zebulon Vance in North Carolina, who recently reminded his hearers that "all the brave Southern heroes who dipped their hands in Union blood were for Tilden and reform!" These and others, all Confederate officers, as in the House of the present Congress, with Tilden and Hendricks as their national candidates, who, like the other, secessionists and copperhead, labored with Jeff Davis and Lee for the destruction of the Union. It is the new conspiracy for the conquest of the nation—the destruction of nationality and freedom, and its ruling maxim is: Place none on guard but secessionists, copperheads, or rebels!

A countryman, wandering with his wife through the art galleries of the Philadelphia Exhibition, stood before Riviere's picture of Circe and the companions of Ulysses. He gazed earnestly at the painting, wondered what was meant by the handsome young woman playing on her lyre, while a herd of swine wallowed and tumbled about at her feet. He then looked up the picture in his catalogue and pondered over the title, "The Companions of Ulysses." Said he: "Well, if that isn't the hardest slap Old Orant's got yet."—Scribner for November.

They tell this story in Maine: Mr. Coombs, Superintendent of the Knox & Lincoln railroad, is a genial and popular man, but a Democrat withal. He had shown some kindness to an Irishman living in Rockland, and the latter approaching him the day after the late election, brimful of happiness and said, "Mr. Coombs, you was good to me last spring, and so I've voted the Black Republican ticket just to plaze ye." Pat had never dreamed that so kind and intelligent a gentleman could be anything but a Rebublican.

The grand issue of the contest between Hayes and Tilden: A relapse into the tyrannical and loathsome despotism of the old slave barbarism in the success of Tilden; or the maintenance of the ever increasing forces of civilization—ligh, happiness, and comfort for all—nationality and freedom—in the triumph of Hayes!

Increase of advertising is evidence of advancing civilization.

Mandarin Mung, the head of the Chinese Embassy, which recently reached Paris, entered a railway coach with eight seats, at Marseilles, with the six members of his suite, and found a well-dressed Englishman ensconced in one of them. Mung politely allowed him to remain, and, being able to speak English tolerably, soon entered into conversation with him. The Englishman was widely informed, and very interesting. In a casual way he carelessly spoke of himself as the proprietor of both the train and the locomotive, and dropped the subject. Mung renewed it, and the Englishman told him that the locomotive and the coach in which they rode would be very useful to himself and the embassy in rapidly traversing the Paris streets. Having plenty of other locomotives and coaches, he offered to sell both for ten thousand francs. Mung eagerly embraced the opportunity, and, taking the money from his treasurer, counted it out.—The Englishman gave a receipt, and at the next station disappeared. On reaching Paris the Celestial became a wiser man,

It is related that an Indian once found a young lion, and as he seemed weak and harmless, never attempted to control him. But every day the lion gained in strength, and became more difficult to manage. At last, when excited by rage, he fell upon the Indian and tore him to pieces. It is thus with bad passions and evil habits. Have you an ungovernable temper? Do you get so angry that you cannot, or think you cannot, "contain" yourself? If so, you have an untamed lion. Is your appetite for stimulant or narcotics so overpowering that you become almost delirious without them? The lion has already got the mastery, and will bring you down unless you cast him off. Look into our jails, prisons, and poor houses, and see the miserable victims there with mouths full of filthy stuff, and their bodies reeking with the stench of whisky or tobacco, and you will see how much more there is of the animal than of the goodlike human in such perverted and fallen creatures! The lion has them by the throat, and will not let go. He has crushed them to earth, and they lie in the agony of faithless and helpless despair.

Very Frenchy is this, from a Parisian source: "The other day," says the writer, "the beautiful and aristocratic—— (never mind the name), being at Versailles, conceived the sudden idea of bathing her 'tootsies' in the waters of the bain d' Apollon. After several minutes she wished to dry, but, helas! no linge pour essuyer les pieds (no linen to dry the trotters). At this vital moment all the gentlemen were seized with a thought, the inspiration of genius, and cast to the lovely bather all their handkerchiefs, perfumed a mort. After drying her feet, she returned to each one his handkerchief with a graceful smile, upon which each cavalier kissed his handkerchief, and sniffing it with ilelire, returned it to his pocket. All owing to the heat."

REBELLION IN NEW YORK.—The Ithaca, N. Y. Journal says: There is Democratic rebellion all around the board. Up in Oswego county the Hon. A. S. Paga, Mayor Poucher, Delos DeWolf, F. R. Smith, and a host of prominent Democrats are openly opposing Tilden, and they denounce him in the bitterest terms. Albany supplemets Oswego; and the Cornings, Pruyns, Parkers, Vesburgs, and Schuylers, led by the Albany Evening Times, an influential Democratic daily, declare that this "reformer" is a fraud upon the party and a knave generally. In this section the Hon George J. Madge, E. P. Hart, and Ausbur Birdsall have deserted him, and hundreds of honest Democrats will silently vote against Tilden because of his disloyalty during the War, his defrauding the Government on his income returns, his operations at Brady'r Bend, his shinplaster swindles in Michigan, and his "railroad wrecking" everywhere.

Under the old slave oligarcy, prior to the Democratic rebellion, the sentiments of the Declaration of Independence were denounced as a "a string of glittering generalities." The Confederate editors and orators rising in a climax of the old pro-slavery hatred of everything national and free, now pronounce its sentiments "drivellings," "absurd trash," "silly absurdities," "transparent gusto!" denunciations which find their interpretation in the speeches and record of Tilden and Hendricks.

One of the saddest descriptions one can give of a household, is that the master of it "generally goes out of an evening."

If any one speaks evil of you let your life be so virtuous that none will believe him.

ELECTION, NOVEMBER 7, 1876.

The Richmond Republican says that at a recent public performance in that city they brought the flag upon the stage, and the appearance of the Stars and Stripes was greeted with a storm of hisses. A portion of the audience endeavored to drown the hisses by stamping and yells, and at last succeeded; but the result was for a long time doubtful. Comment is unnecessary.

The Republican party is the bulwark of freedom. To allow its defeat would be to destroy the only defense of civil and religious liberty. Freemen everywhere, irrespective of party, must rally to its support, for the victory of a solid South means the conquered rebels of 1865 transformed into the rulers of 1876

General Thomas Ewing, so active in his support of Greeley in 1872, and a Democrat now, says: "I have never had any hope of success since the St. Louis Convention. Tilden is a deceit and a fraud, and I have no idea the people of the North will tolerate him."

The Tribune editorially asserts that income tax frauds charged against Mr. Tilden remain utterly unexplained; that he was a poor man in 1862, and was worth $3,000,000 in 1872, and in the meantime had paid taxes on an average income of less than $15,000.

Seven large new canneries are in process of construction along the lower Columbia. Should the next fishing season prove favorable, more salmon will be caught and prepared for shipment than has ever before been done in any one year.

A project is on foot to start silver note banks. Its originator lives at Virginia City. It is supposed the design is to issue notes against deposits of fine silver, and thus make the same available as a circulating medium.

If we are defeated at the coming election, we might as well have been defeated in the war of the rebellion, for all that the nation won on the field will be surrendered at the ballot box.

The Pope having desired to divide the Archbishopric of Lyons into two dioceses, and without the assent of the French Government, the latter has issued a decree forbidding such division.

Edward S. Stokes, convicted of the shooting of James Fisk, Jr., was released Saturday morning from the State Prison at Auburn, New York, his term of service having expired.

The parties to whom the Centennial is indebted for the execution and erection and of the California State building on the grounds, will be awarded a medal.

Annapolis Naval Cadet Midshipman F. A. Woodworth, of California, and R. W. Barclay, of Mississippi, are under arrest for hazing and await trial by courtmartial.

Do the soldiers who propose voting for Mr. Tilden remember that he said in 1863 that he would rather see them starve than contribute one cent to their comfort in the field?

The howl of the Democrats against the President's proclamation is the same that they raised when Mr. Lincoln called for 75,000 men for three months in 1861.

The dividends in San Francisco, for October, amounted to $2,680,426 against $1,483,430 for the corresponding month of last year.

In the betting in New York on the general result of the election the odds are constantly in favor of Hayes.

It is claimed that public sentiment in Indiana is setting steadily in favor of Hayes and Wheeler.

BAD FOR THE TAXPAYERS.—Notwithstanding the efforts of the Democrats to show that the amount of Southern claims presented to the last House was insignificant, the sheets of the Congressional Record fix definitely the number and amount with astounding results.—The total sum proper to be appropriated is $400,000 more than our national debt, and amount to $2,503,622,386.—The classification is as follows: Rebuilding levees on the Mississippi river, $5,250,000; reprisal of cotton tax, $68,720,000; supplies used or destroyed, $1,205,163,000; use and occupation of property, $1,295,163,000; return of proceeds of captured property, $9,000,000; refund and remission of direct tax, $5,000,000; disloyal mail contractors, $350,000; disloyal claimants under the repeal of certain revised statutes, $500,000; private relief bills, $4,602,000.

WHAT A SOLID SOUTH MEANS.—Is there a man who complains of hard times and high taxes? Let such a man reflect that the success of the solid South means nothing less than the payment of rebel claims to an amount which would more than double our national debt and which could never be paid without doubling the national taxes. To say nothing of other terrible consequences, the election of Tilden would bankrupt the country and all but a select few of the people in it.

Senator West, of Louisiana, is confident that Hayes and Wheeler will carry the State, which gives an undoubted Republican majority of 30,000 on a fair vote, and the Republican factions are now all united. Intimidation is expected in some of the northern counties, but the Republicans are confident that with unity in New Orleans, and in the absence of violence, all the southern counties will go for Hayes and Wheeler

The surrender of the Government into the hands of a solid South will be an invitation for another war. Our army and navy must be kept in loyal hands, or loyal citizens will be forced to face their engines of destruction. The only way to keep the peace is to maintain in position the party that made it possible.

From Florida news come indicating a decided possibility that the Republicans will carry the Electoral ticket, though the Democrats may carry the State ticket.

"For faithful and economical management, the Mutual Benefit has a record equal to any Company in America. Its dividends paid to GROSS premiums received, have been LARGER than those of any other Company for the past ten years, and its average ratio of expense of management to income, since its organization, only amounts to 8 and 76-100 per cent. It is PURELY MUTUAL, dividing up the surplus annually with the policy-holders. LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE POLLS.—On Tuesday next the polls will be opened at the following precincts at one hour after sunrise and close at sunset:

Markleeville; Court House; Inspector, John Musser; Judges, John Cronkite and Daniel Hawkins.

Monitor; Post Office; Inspector, Jos. Larson; Judges, M. Maxwell and Royal Rutter.

Silver King; McCaffery's Saloon; Inspector, R. Snodgrass; Judges, J. Hunt and J. McCaffery.

Silver Mountain; Alpine House; Inspector, R. M. Folger; Judges, Wm. Brown and Jas. Davidson.

THE VOTE.—The vote in this county on Tuesday next will be light on account of the lateness of the season—the residents of Bear and Hope Valleys having departed for Winter quarters on the other side of the mountains. Although small the vote, Alpine, as usual, is intensely Republican. We expect to give Hayes and Wheeler a majority of from 75 to 100.

ACCIDENT.—At the I X L mill, this forenoon, three men were injured by the falling of a portion of the boiler house, now in course of erection. But one, Daniel W. Davis, was seriously injured, and he was immediately sent to Genoa for treatment. Thomas James and John Padkins escaped with slight bruises.

EXCHEQUER.—The ledge struck last week in the 400-foot level is twenty-five feet wide, and it contains a thirty-inch vein of rich ore. Ore continues to be hauled to the mill.

SUPERVISORS.—Supervisor Mercer is a candidate for re-election. Mr. Mercer has been a good officer, and we trust that his services may be retained for another term.

I X L.—Orders have been received from London to put on additional force and resume sinking. Work in that direction will commence at once.

PROBATE.—The personal property of the estate of Joseph Fenley, deceased, is to be sold at Markleeville on Wednesday, next. See advertisement.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.—The Board of Supervisors will meet in regular session on next Monday.

ADVANCE.—Sinking has been resumed on this mine.

Venezuela is at loggerhead with the Pope. Congress, which has taken a very independent position in regard to religious liberty, passed a law affirming that, "Religious liberty being established by the Constitution of the Republic, the public or private profession of any religion is free to all in so far as their belief or worship does not disturb the public peace, nor offend morality, nor alter the constitutional and legal order of things." The Pope, not relishing such work, undertook to ignore it; whereupon Congress provided that the State make church appointments, without regard to him, and that they be responsible only to the Government.

Tilden and Wade Hampton have discovered a novel way for avoiding the President's proclamation in South Carolina. A formal obedience to the command to disband the Rifle Clubs has been rendered, but these clubs have reorganized under the title of "Tilden's Mounted Base Ball Clubs," "Riding Clubs," "Social Circles," "Benevolent Associations," etc.

The United States District Attorney Bliss called on the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas, and saying that he had undoubted proofs of numerous frauds in taking naturalization papers, asked permission to have the records for the whole year examined. This was refused. And this occurred in the Democratic city of New York.

Justice Flowers, in the Bow Street Court, London, sentenced Slade, the American medium, to three months hard labor on his conviction under the Vagrant Act. Counsel for defendant gave notice of appeal, pending which Slade's previous bail was accepted. The sentence of the Court was received with applause and hisses by the spectators.

The Southern war claims for damages during the war amount to $2,483,241,961, or $400,000 more than our national debt! If any one doubts the modesty of Southern rebels after this, how can he be convinced that they do carry that praiseworthy qualification to excess?

Tilden in the White House means another Lee on horseback, and the men of the South who vote for the one will gladly follow the other to battle.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26, 1876.

The injury to our national credit at home, caused by fear that Tilden may be elected to the Presidency, is closely followed by evidences of a greater fear of such a result on the part of the capitalists in money centres of Europe. The officials of the Treasury Department are in possession of reliable informaton that, in the event of the election of the Democratic candidate for the Presidency, the subscriptions in Europe for the 4½ per cent loan will suddenly terminate. Indeed they have already been suspended, for just as soon as the Democratic skies seemed to brighten, through the most unscrupulous efforts, the subscriptions began to diminish, until the feeling of uncertainty has caused a complete stop. Why this is so it is not hard to explain. The people of Europe who are in the habit of purchasing American securities are of the most intelligent class and to a considerable extent thoroughly familiar with our plan of Government and domestic history. They are conversant with the record of both of the great political parties in the United States and they know full well that of the two the Republican party is the only one which has, in all instances and under all circumstances, promptly and fully provided for the obligations of the government. They know that there has never been a single default or even a postponement in the payment of any of the liabilities of the country since it has been under Republican control. What is said of the general Government is also true of the State Governments, when administered by Republican officers. Of the Democracy they know just the reverse. In the first place, they know just as well as the people at home that the vast indebtedness at present due to the creditors of our nation was incurred in suppressing a Democratic rebellion and it is not at all surprising that they should suppose that a Democratic administration, should it come into existence, would not regard with a very great degree of favor the claim of those who furnished the means for crushing into the dust their treasonable efforts to destroy the country. The feeling is a most natural one and is shared in by holders of national securities on this side as well. Then again it is plain to them that the main strength of the Democracy lies in the Southern States, and they have not yet forgotten, for it cost them a bitter experience, that every one of those States has at one time or another repudiated in whole or in part their indebtedness and that most of them are in default to-day in the payment of either the principal or the interest. Many of them, too, have been bitten severely in their pockets through the efforts of the great Democratic reformer in his manipulations of railroad and other corporation stocks which have at one time or another passed through his hands.

There are many reasons which would very naturally lead to such a reaction against our credit, when a Democratic administration seemed at all probable. Even supposing that they had not suffered through the dishonest transactions in railroad stocks of the candidate himself, or to a greater degree through the chronic habit of repudiation which has always affected the Democracy, there is enough in the animus of the people of the South to day toward the general government to appal the boldest investor among them. They know fully as well as we at home that there is a vast and almost unlimited claim arising from damages inflicted upon them during the rebellion, which has already been presented and which, with a sufficient accession of power will be forced to a settlement. Even in their own country of England they know that there is a claim which only awaits the incoming of a Democratic government to be presented, backed by a strong demand for payment. That is the claim of the English holders of the celebrated cotton bonds of the defunct confederacy, which were eagerly bought up, though at a heavy discount, by Southern sympathizers, for the purpose of aiding in our national destruction. These bonds have always commanded a price in England, which has risen or fallen just in the same proportion as the chances of the Democracy increased or diminished.

With all these facts before them, is it any wonder that foreign capitalists hesitate to invest until they know into whose hands the country is to pass?

The extraordinary efforts being made by the Tildenites to manufacture capital out of the late failure of the South Carolina "reformers" to inaugurate another massacre at Cainhoy, are amusing. The truth is that both parties agreed to meet unarmed; but the Republicans, from previous experience, having learned that the white man was "berry onsartin," brought their guns along but secreted them on one side. The whites had not brought theirs within the grounds, but left them at some distance, trusting to the chance of seizing those of the Republicans wherever hidden. As expected, as soon as the speaking commenced search began, and the whites being noticed near the hidden arsenal, the alarm was given and an old colored man hobbling near was killed by one of the whites. A rush being made by the blacks, indiscriminate firing commenced, and our "reformers" sadly chant the tale of "five killed and twelve wounded," as the price of premeditated treachery and bad faith. Remembering that at Edgarton over sixty Republicans were killed and wounded to one "reformer," that since 1865 ten thousand colored men have been killed and wounded, and thirty thousand driven from their former homes, as shown by the censuses taken in the different States by the "reformers" themselves, as well as the corroboration in the testimony that "laborers are impossible to obtain in some sections," we are pleased to see that the day of promise is coming and hope it will "keep coming," until of a verity a Republican is as safe in Georgia as a Democrat in Massachusetts, and the treacherous scoundrels who have made the South one vast cemetery shall have learned that the constitutional amendments and human life are to be respected, even if the North has to furnish the grave-diggers. Amen! So let it be.

A "yaller nigger" shyster, by the name of Ruffin, who has been "practicing" around our police court of late years and who has at last landed inside the jail, whose cells he has aided many a petty criminal to avoid, is advised by the Tilden Sunday organ of this city that "if he had gone to South Carolina to operate he would have been a judge by this time!" Right, Sunday Herald. We have not forgotten that it was a "Ruffin," though white, who fired the first gun on Sumpter after it had been trained on that fortress by Beauregard. Let him go, by all means, to South Carolina, the land of Ruffins, Butlers, Hamptons, Garys, traitors, assassins and thieves, for we have no need of him where honor is respected and patriotism stands at a premium.

EPSILON.

THANKSGIVING.—The following is the Thanksgiving proclamation issued by the President:

By the President of the United States of America.—[A Proclamation.]—From year to year we have been accustomed to pause in our daily pursuits and set apart a time to offer our thanks to Almighty God for the special blessings He has vouchsafed to us, with our prayers for a continuance thereof. We have at this time equal reason to be thankful for His continued protection and for the many material blessings which His bounty has bestowed. In addition to these favors accorded to us as individuals, we have special occasion to express our hearty thanks to Almighty God that, by His providence and guidance, our Government, established a century ago, has been enabled to fulfill the purpose of its founders in offering an asylum to the people of every race, securing civil and religious liberty to all within our borders, and meting out to every individual alike justice and equality before the law. It is, moreover, especially our duty to offer our humble prayers to the Father of all Mercies for a continuance of His divine favor to us as a nation and as individuals.

By reason of all these considerations I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, do recommend that the people of the United States devote the Thirtieth day of November next to an expression of their thanks and prayers to Almighty God, and laying aside their daily avocations and all secular occupations to assemble in their respective places of worship, and observe such day as a day of thanksgiving and rest.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the City of Washington this 26th day October, in the year of our Lord 1876, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and first. U. S. GRANT.

HAMILTON FISH, Secretary of State.

On Monday last, at Virginia City, a great excitement was caused by a man who gathered a large crowd under the pretext of liberating some rats from a box for a dog to kill. About three hundred men gathered about the spot, when a polecat sprang from the box and began to disperse the crowd. The man made his escape, but was hunted all night by a gang with six-shooters. So great was the indignation that he was obliged to flee the city. About a hundred prominent citizens had their clothes ruined.

AN UNANSWERABLE ARGUMENT.

The strongest argument which can be urged against the advisability of administerion such corrosive and nerve-destroying poisons as arsenic and quinine for intermittent and remittent fevers, is the vastly superior success in the in the prevention and cure of such diseases of a medicine which is the very antipode of the above named drugs, both in respect of its composition and the results wrought by it.—Such a medicine is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a purely vegetable preparation, which not only eradicates with wonderful promptitude every trace of fever and ague, and kindred types of malarious disease, from the system, but is a certain preventive of all maladies begotten of miasma-tainted air and water. These results mineral anti-febrile remedies do not effect with certainty, and their continued use entails consequences highly pernicious to the system. The Bitters, on the contrary, not only afford speedy relief, but establish health on a permanent basis.

The French and English papers are dissatisfied with the Emperor of Germany's statement about European affairs, in his speech at the opening of the session of the Imperial Parliament of Germany, at Berlin, on Monday. The French papers accept as a direct menace to France.

The number of postal cards issued October was 24,716,000, being an increase of 2,977,500, or nearly 15 per cent. over the corresponding month of last year. This is the largest issue in any one month since the introduction of the cards.

The Wheat movements at San Francisco during the month of October has been the heaviest in the history of the port.—There have been cleared during the month sixty cargoes, aggregating 2,090,532 centals, valued at $3,166,237, and including 60,160 bbls Flour, $3,450,560

The debt statement shows a reduction during October of $3,388,138.

GRAND TRIUMPH FOR

WEBER

Pianos!

First Premium over all American and Foreign Manufacturers.

Copy of a Telegram received by Sherman & Hyde:

NEW YORK, Sept. 29th, 1876—Received the highest award for sympathetic, pure, and rich tone, combined with greatest power, as shown in the three styles—Grand, Square, and Upright Pianos—which show intelligence and solidity in their construction, a pliant and easy touch, which at the same time answers promptly to its requirements, together with excellence of workmanship.

A. WEBER.

WEBER PIANOS ARE THE BEST

Never before in the history of piano forte manufacture has an instrument risen so rapidly in popular favor.

Its intrinsic merit and decided superiority over all others has caused every musician and artist of note to adopt and recommend it.

Nilsson says, "I shall take every opportunity to recommend and praise your instruments."

Miss Kellogg says, "Your Pianos are my choice for the concert room and my own house."

Lucca says, "Your uprights are extraordinary instruments, and deserve their great popularity."

Patti says, "I have used the Pianos of every celebrated maker, but give yours the preference over all."

Strauss says, "Your Pianos astonish me. I have never seen any Pianos which equal yours."

Wehli says, "Madame Parepa called your Pianos the finest in the United States. I fully endorse that opinion. They have no rival."
